VILLA SAYS HE SLEW URBINA

Cruelty Compelled Such Action, Is General's Statement

Fired on, He Courtmartialled Subordinate on Spot

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Confirmation of the execution of General Tomas Urbina by General Villa was received directly from General Villa today by Enrique Elorete, his agent here.

In explanation of Urbina's execution General Villa gave the following statement:

"For some time past the behavior of General Tomas Urbina has become intolerable, because, without any scruples whatever, he executed all persons who incurred his displeasure. Of his acts he gave of late no accounts whatever to headquarters nor to any authorities whom he was obliged to respect and obey.

"Under these conditions, and taking into consideration the increasing insubordination and cruelty of General Urbina and propaganda of disintegration that he was conducting in the very body of the convention army under my command and his complete lack of respect for the life and property of nationals and foreigners, I deemed it proper to interview him for the purpose of impressing upon him the necessity of an immediate change in actions and behavior. With this end in view I started for his ranch at Nieves, Durango, accompanied by a bodyguard, and meeting with shots from General Urbina and his staff, who had entrenched themselves in the house, I proceeded in the most adequate manner under the circumstances, compelling them to surrender, after which his execution was ordered by a court-martial held on the spot."

Great Convention Opened Today at Auditorium; Gov. Gates Called East.

Light took the platform as the representative of President Harrison of the American Highway Association.

ROAD HISTORY.

The afternoon session opened at 2 o'clock, with A. L. Bradt of the Illinois State Highway Commission presiding. The paper of L. W. Page, director of the United States Office of Public Roads, was the first one read, and dealt with "The History and Future of Highway Improvement."

A portion of Page's paper follows: "The taxpayer should awaken to the full realization of the fact that he taxes which he pays into the public treasury for public road improvement should be subjected to the same sort of business management and business expediency that makes for success in private enterprise. The average taxpayer pays his taxes and merely receives himself of what he considers a burden. He loses all interest in the future disposition of his money, except to complain from year to year of the small return which he has received for his outlay. Legislatures are supposed to be the servants of the people and their legislators are supposed to be the servants of the people. The management of the country's public works an adequate and responsible organization and an intelligent system for the extension of road funds, the proper use of which will be the most important factor in the future of the country. The wastefulness and inefficiency which has marked our previous experience in highway improvement would be largely corrected. Before undertaking any general scheme of improvement it is the duty of the county to give traffic studies made of its roads, as to determine the order and measure of their importance and the character of construction which should be adopted to meet the traffic requirements as indicated by such study.

"In the financing of the road improvements there is a growing tendency to rush hastily into debt through the issuance of long-term bonds for the building of roads for which no adequate maintenance is made. The evils of long-term bonds or short-term utilities have been said with by many authorities on the subject. It is the duty of the county to give traffic studies made of its roads, as to determine the order and measure of their importance and the character of construction which should be adopted to meet the traffic requirements as indicated by such study.

"The entire surplus production of the farm and many of the products of the forest and the mine are first hauled over our country roads to the shipping point. The office of public roads estimates the cost of this hauling at not less than $500,000,000 annually. It further estimates that if the world were to reduce its cost of hauling, it would reduce its cost of living by $250,000,000 annually.

"While this gain of $250,000,000 could be of direct benefit to the farmer, the lumberman and the miner, it is not the only gain that the entire people. The people are quick to recognize that any increase in freight rates means an increase in the price of commodities, but have failed to realize that the cost of hauling to the railroad station is equally a factor in their cost and hence in the cost of living.

"Freight rates have been reduced since 1837 nearly 90 per cent, but during that time there has been practically no reduction in the cost of highway transportation. The reason for this is that railroads have been constructed and operated from the standpoint of paying interest and dividends, which has forced systematic and economic management; whereas, our highways, because of our failure to appreciate their economic importance, have been neglected and the limited amount of work expended upon them has been unsystematic, uneconomic and without satisfactory returns.

ROADS IN FORESTS.

Henry S. Graves, chief of the bureau of forestry, United States Department of Agriculture, advocated a modification of the government's policy regarding the building of roads in national forests in order to make use of heavily timbered forests serviceable to the people at the present time. He spoke on "Roadside Improvement." Graves said: "The government's present plan of building in national forests would be modified in order to make use of heavily timbered forests serviceable to the people at the present time, during the most serious pioneer stage of the region's development. Where existing resources justify it and the public need can be shown future benefits should be anticipated and adequate provision made for the construction of roads, bridges and similar public works; these advances should be returned to the treasury from the sums which will be received later and which would go to the community under the present law. Every project should be taken separately and on its merits.

WINS BATTLE FOR LIFE DOCTOR FIGHTS POISON

By Associated Press.

DENVER, Sept. 13.—A four-day wait for death terminated today when Dr. W. W. Keeney was declared to have entirely recovered from the effects of a hypodermic injection of poison which he took through mistake Thursday morning. Dr. Keeney took the poison, which was a deadly kila in a few days through action on the kidneys, in the belief that it was a sleeping potion. Discovering his error, he summoned medical aid and settled down to wait for death, in the meantime studying with scientific interest the action of the drug on his system. For four days the issue of life or death hung in the balance, but the physician's system finally threw off the effects of the poison and he was pronounced out of danger.

project should be taken separately and on its merits.

"It should be a fundamental principle that the national forests are not to be regarded as a separate federal domain administered only from the national standpoint and without respect to the needs of the local communities.

The forests were set aside to accomplish a great nation's purpose, but their first and greatest service should be to the local communities.

A. N. Johnson, highway engineer for the New York City Bureau of Municipal Research, spoke on "The Essentials of Proper Laws for Highway Work."

Johnson said in part: "A highway law for a state should be passed that has been so carefully considered as to make it wholly unnecessary for the legislature each year or two to take on additional or make vital changes. Such a highway act should provide for a proper organization, one that would give sufficient power to a central authority to promulgate by rules and regulations much that is now detail legislation.

"Such authority should be placed with a state highway commission whose organization, to be effective, must be such as to secure continuity of policy and employment and retention of trained highway engineers. They must be free from the political football game. Skilled technical men and not political manipulators should be placed under the term 'practical men,' must be in control. The state department as here contemplated is to have more than the control of merely a restricted system of state roads. It is to have general control of all the road work and the road policy of the state.

"If any proof is needed that such general control is essential and that present road administrative methods are totally unable to meet modern needs, it is only necessary to glance at most of the special legislation for local road projects. There must be provided by the state a department which will have authority to prevent unnecessary expenditures as well as to supervise necessary improvements. If proper administrative methods are to be made possible there must be abolished the number of small, independent units which now exist, with their horde of minor officials selected by ballot.

Among the delegates are four from South America. They are Margarito Gonzalez, Dr. Alfonso Quiroga and J. E. Hotte, Oakland; Arthur Langgath, Portland, Oregon; C. J. Milner, Johns Hopkins University, Camden, Maryland.

The California Association of County Surveyors, of which L. E. Vroom of Yuba county is president, were present and will take part in the convention.

Colonel E. A. Stevens, State Highway Commissioner of New Jersey, who has studied the good roads situation from a national viewpoint, told the Pan-American Road Congress delegates this afternoon that the future of the country would in the near future spend more money on good roads than was expended in the construction of the Panama canal. Colonel Stevens spoke on "The Essentials of Proper Laws for Highway Work," arguing that, as this enormous sum is to be directed toward public funds, preparation should be made now for the formation of laws which will make certain the manner in which these funds will be expended.

Colonel Stevens declared that a general improvement of good roads must be made in the near future, saying that the agricultural and industrial prosperity of the nation was largely dependent upon this great undertaking. Poor roads, he said, were responsible for the hindrance of many farms and fields in the older states of the Union. He said in part: "The problem of good roads, considered as a national one, is so big that its very extent is hard to realize; nevertheless, it is certain that we shall in the near future build a very large improvement in our roads that the cost for the country at large will greatly exceed that of any public improvement which we have ever tackled, not excepting the Panama canal, and that this large sum will come out of the public purse and be expended through public officials, and that through such expenditures, if wisely made, an important commercial advantage will ensue, not only to our agricultural interests, but to our industrial development. The cost here will be so great that it will prove a serious tax upon the funds which the nation can spare for public improvements. Every delay in the completion of our road system will mean a further delay in the realization of conditions that are already a serious tax on many communities, as witnessed by the abandoned farms and deserted fields but too common a sight in our older states.

"We need thorough preparation for the proper performance of this difficult task. Legislation must be drawn with this end in view. The work to be done must be fully planned. The carrying out of any carefully planned system will depend on the means provided to meet the cost of the work. When these are dependent on the whim of legislative bodies and the demands of other public works the difficulties of efficient administration are multiplied. When a state enters into an arrangement to have the road work done by its political subdivisions there must arise complications that will endanger efficiency."

OREGON GOVERNOR IN FAVOR OF SUFFRAGE

By Associated Press.

SALEM, Sept. 13.—Governor Withycombe has authorized O. M. Clark, who will represent the executive this week at the convention in San Francisco of the Congressional Women's Suffrage League, to quote him as favoring a federal amendment for woman's suffrage.

FILES STREET PETITION WITH CITY COUNCIL

A. Hunshe has filed two petitions with the city council—one asking that Courtland avenue, from Fleming to Virginia avenue, be taken over by condemnation proceedings, and the other that the condition of rock being used on High street, which he declared was old rock, be investigated.

The following routine street matters were transacted:

Awarding contract to the Oakland Paving Company for the improvement of the north half of Sixty-first avenue in front of lot 10, block H of the J. W. Crawford tract.

Awarding contract to Schuyler & Edwards for the widening of portions of Bayo street and Weyland Tompkins avenue.

Awarding contract to F. L. Carson for the construction of electrolines on Telegraph avenue, between Fifty-second and Fifty-sixth streets.

Awarding contract to the Kopperud Construction Company for the improvement of Deering street, from Thirty-fifth avenue to Persimmon street.

Granting William L. Henry permission to grade Carmichael street, between Rhoda and Laguna avenues.

Directing the Superintendent of Streets to extend the time for A. H. Kopperud to complete the street improvement in Newwood extension.

A resolution, accepting deed from the Central Pacific Railway Company to the city of Oakland dedicating a piece of land at Seventh and West streets for street purposes, and directing the city clerk to have said deed recorded, was referred to the city attorney.

EARLY JITNEY RIDE INVOLVES MYSTERY GIRL

Miss Dorothy Moore, 1359 Gough street, San Francisco, is at the Emergency hospital suffering from shock as the result of an early jitney ride this morning, the auto turning over at Thirty-sixth and San Pablo avenue when a tire blew out.

Miss Moore, who is 18 years of age and pretty, said that she had come to Oakland Saturday afternoon and spent the night at a hotel, corner of Tenth and Franklin streets. She spent yesterday with friends and told the police that she was taking a ride before returning to San Francisco when the accident occurred.

According to O. F. Wellens, 582 Fifty-eighth street, who witnessed the accident, the jitney, driven by James F. Lee, 635 Twenty-second street, was traveling at top speed when it struck a hole in the pavement and overturned.

At the hospital Miss Moore refused to give a clear account of her visit to Oakland. She said that she was registered at the hotel under the name of Dorothy Crosby. Moore, she said is the name of her stepfather. Her condition is not serious.

FILES PROTEST ON WATER SERVICE ON RHODA ST.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—Myles Gallagher, a carpenter residing at 2353 Rhoda street, Oakland, appeared before the Railroad Commission today and filed a protest against the service given by the Peoples Water Co. on Rhoda street. He claimed the supply is insufficient to meet the needs and requested that the Commission order the company to lay a six-inch pipe and install a pump at Diamond reservoir.

FIRE LADDIES CREDITED.

Stating that members of Chemical Co. No. 1, O. F. D., are not looking for medals, but simply want credit where credit is due, Captain M. J. Hanley of that branch of the fire department has written The Tribune explaining that it was Company No. 1 that responded to an alarm on Chabot road, Friday, September 10, extinguishing a blaze in an unoccupied residence, and not the city prison chain gang. The gang responded, but the department used 86 gallons of chemical on the blaze, stated the writer.

IRRIGATION MEN BEGIN CONGRESS

Union, half a dozen provinces of Canada and three states in Mexico, numbering more than a thousand, were on hand this morning. When the twenty-second annual International Irrigation Congress was called to order by Richard W. Young of Salt Lake, past chairman of the executive committee, at 10 o'clock in the Auditorium there were more than 200 men in the hall at the time and much enthusiasm was manifested during the opening hour.

Delegates are arriving on every train and many of the most prominent irrigators of the western hemisphere are scheduled for addresses.

L. A. Nares, chairman of the California Board of Control, made the introductory address, in which he outlined the purposes of the convention, its objects and its hopes. Chairman Newman responded and then President J. B. Case of the congress delivered the first important address of the morning.

Many important meetings were held in the committee rooms.

Stockton, the first California city to entertain the congress, is well prepared for the crowd and arrangements are perfect. Many excursions into the irrigation districts of San Joaquin and Stanislaus counties for the purpose of showing irrigation as it is, as well as giving the theoretical side of the problems.

A meeting of the executive committee is in session today, and will discuss an important measure some time during the day, in which the southwest section of the country will be the subject.

The rules for the congress and the approving of the report of Secretary Arthur Hooker proved among the important actions of the congress during early hours.

Committees were announced just before the close of the morning session and the convention will settle down to real work before the day is over.

IMMIGRANTS ON FARM.

The problem of putting the immigrant on the farm was presented to the congress by Robert Newton, agent manager of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce.

"European farmers have already made a wonderful contribution to intensive farming in California," Lynch said. "Nearly one-half of our rural population is foreign born. The bulk of European immigration has agricultural training, and it is expected that those who come to California through the Panama canal from European ports will be naturally distributed to the agricultural opportunities of the state.

"The greatest irrigation projects of California are bringing hundreds of thousands of fertile acres under intensive cultivation, and inasmuch as the development of California must be symmetrically advanced in both industrial and agricultural fields, there seems every reason that favorable opportunities will develop for skilled agricultural labor."

PART RAILWAYS PLAY.

What part a great railway system plays in the development of a new country was the International Irrigation Congress by E. O. McCormick, vice-president of the Southern Pacific system.

In order to bring people into the Far West, McCormick said, it is necessary to tell them what was there and this in turn involved a wide and comprehensive knowledge of the land. He developed from this need there grew a great bureau, maintained by the railroad, for the collection and dissemination of information. This work was done through pamphlets, newspapers, magazine articles, stereoscopic pictures and more recently by motion pictures. It cost, in the 46 years of Southern Pacific operation, of millions of dollars. Through chambers of commerce, "boosting" editions of newspapers, supplies of photographs and cuts for all publications, and through its own direct agencies, he placed, hundreds of millions of copies of informative literature had been placed, through the railroad's activities, in the hands of prospective settlers.

CREDIT TO WOMAN.

"Railroads invariably precede development," McCormick declared, and spoke of the building of a line to Fresno, Cal., when the San Joaquin valley was but a vast grain field, encouraging investors to begin irrigation and intensive farming. But it is to a woman that he gave credit for today's vineyard acreage in the San Joaquin valley, a Miss Hatch, who left school-teaching in the East and took up a small holding near Fresno.

Like development in the Sacramento valley he credited to the opening of the Shasta route to Portland, and he described the pioneer work of the Southern Pacific across Arizona and into the Imperial valley in California. Southern Pacific engineers, he said, were the men who put water on the Coachella valley in the Colorado desert by boring artesian wells, and who found there the possibilities of growing in this country the commercial date.

"The present policy of the Southern Pacific Company," he said, "is to continue this work of education and colonization in every way that it can possibly do so."

DR. HIGGINS DENIERS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—Dr. Spencer A. Higgins, who was captured in Oakland following his flight from this city, after he had jumped his bail, did not plead guilty this morning to a charge of wrongful use of the United States mails. Instead, he entered a demurrer to the indictment, which was promptly overruled by Federal Judge Deeding. His trial was set for October 6.

LOVE FEUD ENDS IN GUN TRAGEDY

Fisherman Gonzales Slays Abel Lorenz, Rival for Widow's Hand.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—As the result of a feud lasting three years and due to the affection of two men for the same woman, Abel Lorenz, a fisherman of 44 Green street, 35 years old, was slain in the entrance to the Hotel Port, Broadway and Grant avenues, by Trinidad Gonzales, who was captured by the police, Gonzales, who was passing and who lives at Hotel Port, was accused as he had been the scene. Patrick O'Connell, a merchant, who was passing and who lives at Hotel Port, was accused as he had been the scene. Patrick O'Connell, a merchant, who was passing and who lives at Hotel Port, was accused as he had been the scene.

Mrs. Laura Maza is the woman in the case. In Lorenz's pocket was found a letter in which were the words, "Mrs. Laura Maza: I am leaving you forever. God bless you."

It is believed that this note was to have been sent the woman by Lorenz who contemplated suicide and possibly the murder of Gonzales. The latter claims that Lorenz was coming up to the hotel to get him and that he met him in the hallway. He asserts that Lorenz made a move toward his pocket and that Gonzales drew his gun first and fired five shots. Lorenz fell when one of the bullets pierced his heart.

Gonzales will be charged with murder, and it is believed that the case will be tried in the north during the recent fishing expedition and quarreled repeatedly on a boat in which both returned here a week ago. According to Gonzales, Lorenz threatened to kill the Maza woman three years ago. It is believed that Abel and Lorenz are only the first names of the dead man, as the initials A. L. S. were found in his hat.

INTERLOCUTORY DIVORCE GRANTED MRS. FILLMORE

"Jealousy and nagging," which brought about the separation of William H. Fillmore and his bride, the former Pearl Cawston, whose wedding was a society event in Oakland shortly over a year ago, has won for Mrs. Fillmore an interlocutory decree of divorce from Superior Judge Donahue.

The friends of the young couple were surprised two months ago when Mrs. Fillmore commenced suit for divorce. She is the daughter of Mrs. Tyler Hays, a well-known social figure in the city, and according to her complaint, her husband one day telephoned to her mother to "take her away." This was said after a trip Mrs. Fillmore had made to Oregon to visit friends. She testified that after she arrived in the north and had accepted engagements for the next season, her husband had telegraphed her to return home. When she had broken the engagements, he again telegraphed that she might remain, all of which caused her "mental distress and humiliation."

Fillmore is employed by a local lumber company.

Changes Impend in Italian War Conduct

ROME, via Paris, Sept. 13.—The next meeting of the Italian cabinet will deal with new measures upon which the quadruple entente allies have decided for the future conduct of the war, according to the correspondent in the city of the Eternal City. These measures are said to be analogous to those employed by the Germans to assure their recent military successes.

The Agence Italia says that the recent visit of General Joffre to the Italian front and Emperor Nicholas' assumption of the active command of the Russian army are indications of radical changes which are imminent in the conduct of the war.

ECHO OF WAR SEIZURE HEARD IN SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—Upon the word of Mrs. Winifred A. Stone, a wealthy resident of London, depends the fate of the $200,000 palatial yacht belonging to Count Richard Festetics de Tolma, who claims American citizenship, and is seeking to have the boat restored by the French government. Count de Tolma, a Hungarian nobleman, wedded the beautiful daughter of Gardner Webb, an erber, wealthy New York banker, and soon after purchased a yacht, from Robert E. Todd, a member of the New York Yacht Club. While cruising near the harbor of Marseilles the craft was seized by the French government. The claim has been set up that de Tolma is an Austrian, and that, therefore, the vessel was legitimate war prey. In the superior and Federal court the count is endeavoring to prove his American citizenship and has consulted with U. S. Attorney Preston. Today London in an effort to learn from Mrs. Stone whether it is true that she is Count de Tolma's citizenship papers.

WAR VETERANS TO HOLD LAST RITES OVER COMRADE

The funeral of Gus Larsen will be held tomorrow afternoon, service to be conducted at 2:30 o'clock in the Oakland Crematorium. The deceased was 33 years of age and for many years was employed in the job printing department of the Oakland Tribune. He is survived by a wife and three children. The Spanish War Veterans will conduct the last rites.

VICTIM MAY RECOVER.

Antone Felles, 1716 East Fourteenth street, who received a fractured skull last night, when a wagon that he was driving at Seventh and Union streets was struck by a Southern Pacific electric train, will probably recover from the injury. He was treated at the Emergency Hospital and removed today to a private hospital.

INJURED IN EXPLOSION.

Brown, 631 Eighteenth street, lighted a match in the bathroom of his home, which was filled with fumes from a leaky pipe, painfully burned him and shattered all of the windows in the place. Brown succeeded in putting out the fire, although he had received burns upon his face and arms. The explosion occurred yesterday afternoon.

The final farewell between the music-loving band and the municipal band. Through of the City Council, in fixing the annual

EGATION
VICE

The segregation of the same has generally dumped this mass of difficulties into the lap of the police, and given them carte blanche to proceed as they thought best. Before the Royal Commission of 1871 in Great Britain the metropolitan police officials were questioned on their ideas as to what constituted a prostitute.
It is instructive reading to study some of the answers. No two police officers held the same views, yet each was permitted to act according to his own judgment.
and women and girls must take the consequence.
Where vice is segregated and corrupt practice vice where they corrupted by their power over these women.

At Hong Kong, according to the report of a commission in 1880, which investigated complaints which had developed under the system of segregation and regulation, men of all classes, police officers, aristocrats, gentlemen's servants, drunks, and diseased soldiers and sailors, were paid for their aid in controlling females and given government marked money to bribe women to sin with them to secure proof.
I will give in part one picture which constitutes prostitution?
Governor Sir John Pope Hennessy reported from that report, before a deputy of gentlemen in London, after his return from the colony in 1882:
"At the head of the Registrar General's Department in Hong Kong we appoint an officer, as we believe, of the highest character (a British official). One of the gentlemen so employed puts on a false transcend sectional interests. But anger is mingled with disgust over the catch-gallery promise of Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo to place the magnificent sum of $30,000,000 in southern banks to aid them in holding the cotton crop against a demolished market. Read what a prominent cotton grower says:

The provisions of Secretary McAdoo and Mr.
Harding will do more harm than good. Mr. McAdoo's promise of a thirty-million-dollar deposit in Southern national banks would be a mere bagatelle if the promise were kept; even a 12,000,000-bale crop at 8 cents per pound will require $120,000,000 to move and $120,000,000 to hold. And by the time the $30,000,000 is distributed, the proportion to each State will be small, and there are few national banks which can comply with the restrictions or care to do so, in order to secure money which they must lend at a rate of interest lower than that which prevails in their communities. The bald fact of the matter is that in the rural South money is worth eight per cent; and the bankers do not have to hunt for takers at that rate; they have plenty of customers. These accounts justify loans and who are glad to get loans at eight per cent; none of them will refuse money at seven per cent. There is no inducement to lend to the farmer at six per cent, especially where the farmer has not paid his notes due last fall.
Such is the penalty of being "cheap" with a constitution. Such the cost of trifling with the intelligence of inelligent agriculturists who have had a century to learn all the tricks and requirements of their business.
Such is the risk of dealing out political flimflam in the place of real comprehensive assistance.

REAL FRIENDS OF PEACE.

Officers and directors of the New York Peace Society, of which Andrew Carnegie, founder of the Carnegie peace and educational foundations, is president, have gone on record as being emphatically opposed to the movement to place an embargo on the shipment of arms and ammunition to the belligerent countries of Europe. In a public statement just issued these officers of the organization say that, "in view of the demand that is being made, ostensibly in the name of American friends of peace, that our government shall reverse its policy regarding the sale by merchants and manufacturers of munitions of war to belligerent governments," they feel themselves under the obligation to declare that they oppose the laying of an embargo on such exports. The following reasons are given for this action:
First: Scrupulous observance by the nations of international law is essential to progress toward peace. Accepted principles of international law should not be changed in the interest of either belligerent while a war is in progress. The law, as is admitted, permits the exportation of munitions.
Second: The custom of making enormous preparations for war in time of peace ought to be discouraged. If a nation might not lawfully purchase arms from the merchants of neutral countries after the outbreak of hostil-ties, it would be forced to invest vast sums of money in armament plants and to pile up enormous reserves of ammunition.
Many small countries which lack the means of producing arms and ammunition could not possibly supply the lack, and the same thing is true of large, but purely agricultural, countries. Naturally resources for securing raw materials and highly developed industries would give to one nation a dangerous preponderance over others.
The signatures to the statement are those of men widely known in religious and the universal peace propaganda and include Alton B. Parker, Lyman Abbott, Francis Lynde Stetson, John Bates Clark, John A. Stewart, Horace White, George A. Plympton, Frederick Lynch, Samuel T. Dutton, George Haven Putnam, William S. Bennett, William Jay Scheffelin, William H.
Bliss, Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, Albert Shaw, Mary J. Pierson and Secretary William H. Short. It has been apparent from the beginning that the real friends of peace were unalterably in favor of sustaining to the last the doctrines and the terms of international law. This was so, per se, because war cannot be prevented without international covenants which are held inviolable. (This is the very remedy the genuine peace propagandists have sought for to prevent wars. A great many of our citizens have unwittingly enrolled under false banners, and have unknowingly permitted their presence and their support to be turned to partisan account.
The above statements and others like it will enable the real friend of peace and the patriotic American citizen to disassociate himself from those who speak of peace in whispers and cry in stentorian voice for the disregard of national and international rights and duties.

In sizing up the military situation in Western Russia
it will be well to bear in mind that in that region winter is an early visitor. It is not an uncommon event for the larger rivers to be frozen in the first days of October. How this fact may affect military operations is as yet to be determined practically. Given equality of hardihood in operations under conditions of severe cold, it might aid the Germans by making the marsh lands round about the Dvina river passable for troops. But the conditions are hardly equal. The Russians, immune to cold, are likely to be relatively the more effective.
This was the demonstration of last winter's campaign in the Carpathians. It proved mightily to a century ago as the familiar history of the Napoleonic retreat from Moscow abundantly demonstrates.

Statistics just compiled from all the cities and states in the United States show that in the nine years from 1907 to 1915, the casualties from Fourth-of-July celebration were 873 killed and 23,917 wounded. Oakland has contributed none of the dead and only 31 of the injured.
Yet her show of patriotism has been as genuine and as satisfactory as that of any other city.

The Fresno Valley Mercantile Company has on exhibition several rattlesnakes which were caught by "Buck" Walker, Chris Miramonte and Tony Terra on the Nels Struve ranch in the San Andreas district. They will be in the window for several days. Men who have been working on threshing machines this year in the San Andreas district report that they have seen many of the rattlers during the threshing season.—Evening Post-Journal.

As Others See Us.
The Oakland city council abolished the office of dairy inspector "in the interests of economy" and then turned right around and advertised for bids for an automobile for the use of the mayor.—Santa Ana

First on Record.
Probably the first officially known death from sunstroke for Sonoma county was recorded Saturday when a coroner's jury returned a verdict that Cirilo Carnevale died from the effect of a sunstroke.—

Nearer to Yosemite.
An agreement to urge the supervisors of Stanislaus and San Joaquin counties to fix up the upper road from Oakdale through Escalon to Manteca, in order to make the Yosemite valley trip from Oakland shorter and easier was reached at a meeting of committee from the Escalon and Manteca boards of trade and the Oakdale club.—Oakdale Globe.

Widow at Five.
Sheeshu, a little 12-year-old Hindu girl who became a widow at the age of 5 years, and Mrs. E. C. Eaton, a returned missionary from India, will speak at the East Side Presbyterian church. Sheeshu was married at the age of 5. She was widowed soon after by the death of her 20-year-old husband, and the missionaries rescued her from persecution.—Stockton

Peculiar Hallucination.
William Gibson, an inmate of the San Bernardino county hospital, told thrilling tales concerning his communication with Satan and the lower regions, alleging that he was a wireless station and carried on conversations with the ruler of the nether world. He said that "Satan is not a bad fellow if you know him," and gave very glowing descriptions of his prowess as a wireless inventor, which he imagines himself to be. He merely smiled when Judge Dewhurst read the insanity charge in the Superior Court.—Riverside Press.

THE PILGRIM CELEBRATION.

There is still a strong disposition in Massachusetts to celebrate in 1920 the 300th anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrim Fathers by holding at Plymouth a world's industrial exhibition on a very large scale. Plans for the erection of certain permanent structures to house the exhibits and the machinery are now under consideration. The American imagination, as far as celebrations are concerned, seems unable to get beyond the exposition idea. Yet we know that the minds of many of the foremost New Englanders are already at work on the scheme for the celebration of this anniversary, second to none in interest. It seems that a better idea may yet be hit upon. There have been too many world's fairs already and the world has grown tired of them. The memory of the founders of New England is not chiefly associated with material progress. A world's fair represents little more. It seems that music and the fine arts and pageantry combined might be used to better purpose in celebrating the landing of those stern men who sought a distant home in the unknown wilds for freedom to worship God in their own way.
Yet whether or not the New Englanders are able to conceive and put in execution a better plan for their celebration than an industrial exhibition, it is not to be doubted that the whole country will be stirred by the event.
Since 1876 we have had no national anniversary to celebrate the appeal of which is so strong and so general. Descendants of the Pilgrims carried their traits and their zeal all over the country.
They blazed the great trails. The anniversary will have much more than sectional significance.—New York Times.

ONE YEAR'S LOST SHIPS.

The number of ships lost to commerce throughout the world is presented in the statistical summary for 1914, prepared by Lloyd's Register, which announces that in the course of the year the gross reduction in the effective mercantile marine of the world amounted to 766 vessels of less than 100 tons. Of this total 491 were steamers representing 870,682 tons, and 75 sailing vessels of 154,450 tons. The reduction was due to those lost, broken up, condemned, etc.
The sailing vessel record is practically the same as in 1913, but the loss to commerce of steamers represented a total of 238,000 tons higher than for the preceding year.
The losses involved are but a small percentage of the full mercantile marine of all countries, the figures of which for 1914 were: Steamers, 24,444, tonnage
21,987,782; sailing vessels 5292, tonnage
2,683,673; steamers and sailing vessels 26,936, tonnage 24,671,455.

"I am not abandoning my tour in

THE STEVENSONS IN SAMOA.

A CONSUL'S EXPERIENCE.

Mason Mitchell Back From the Orient.
Mason Mitchell, former actor Rough Rider, war correspondent and lecturer, now United States consul at Apia, Samoa, is in this country, says the Washington Post, after an absence of ten years, seven years of which have been spent at Apia. For a year Mr. Mitchell has been acting in Samoa for the German, French and British governments. Early in the war a British fleet seized Apia, the capital of German Samoa, and the German governor and his staff are now held at Auckland, New Zealand. Mr. Mitchell brought the information that last year the ashes of Mrs. Robert Louis Stevenson, wife of the famous author, were interred in the sarcophagus with the body of her husband, which rests on Mount Vae, 2000 feet above the sea.

"Mr. Stevenson's memory is sacred in Samoa," said Mr. Mitchell, at the New Willard. "Last spring the author's widow died in Santa Barbara, Cal., and it was her dying request that her ashes be interred with the body of her husband. Mrs. Stevenson's daughter, Mrs. Field, was in Apia, at the time of her mother's death, and she returned to California to carry out her mother's last request. The ashes of Mrs. Stevenson were taken to Apia and in June services were held at the tomb of the author, and the urn—Mrs. Stevenson's body having been cremated —was placed in the tomb. It is a beautiful spot where the body of Stephenson rests, high up on Mount Vae, which means Mount Waters, overlooking the tranquil Pacific, which Stevenson loved so well. The sarcophagus is made of granite, and on a tablet which forms the top stone is inscribed the epitaph written by Stevenson shortly before his death.

"It was my privilege in January, 1894, to have a personal visit with Mr. Stevenson in Apia." He was then in delicate health, suffering from tuberculosis, and died the following November. I was impressed then by the reverence in which he was held by the natives.
"When I returned, in 1903, I learned how much Stevenson was worshipped by the Samoans, and I learned also the truth of his oft-written statement that the Samoans, of all the 22 subdivisions of the Malayian and Polynesian race, are of the highest type, intellectually and physically.
Stephenson had selected Samoa for his last residence because of its equable climate, which has an average temperature of 95 degrees, rarely varying five degrees."

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

A special meeting of the board of health was held this afternoon for the purpose of protesting against the action of the council in proposing to cut down the appropriation asked by the health department of about $25,000. This means that Oakland will have no crematory.

The following Oakland people are registered at Chicago hotels: Mr. and Mrs. Tubbs and Mrs. E. M. Hale Jr., and son, Miss Ralston, Louis C. Ralston, Mr. and Mrs. L. Levy and T. W. Sweeney.

HOW SINGULAR.

Mrs. Jones had a singular boy.
So singular was this young Jones
That he never made more than one bol,
And he played his duets all alone.
At school he was rather erratic,
For, though mentally quick as a weasel,
He would study but one mathematic,
And when sick he had only one meal.

CITY'S ASSETS OVER TWELVE MILLIONS

New Centralized Control System Makes Comparisons Possible

The justification of the installation of the new centralized control system of municipal accounting lies in the fact that it will be possible hereafter to compare administration with administration and with other cities which have such a system.

TRIBUNE DISTRIBUTES MARATHON CUPS AND MEDALS THOUSANDS SEE FILM OF GREAT RACE ADMISSION DAY

CONTESTANTS IN THE THIRD ANNUAL TRIBUNE MARATHON AS THEY APPEARED YESTERDAY AFTER EMERGING FROM THE OAKLAND PHOTO THEATER, WHERE THE PRIZES WERE AWARDED AND THE PICTURES OF THE RACE SHOWN FOR THE FIRST TIME.

Four hundred dollars' worth of medals, trophies and decorations were bestowed by The Tribune yesterday morning in the Oakland Photo Theater to the several hundred contestants in the third annual Merritt Marathon, which was run last Thursday morning. The commodious theater was well filled with coaches, athletes, P. A. A. officials and others interested in athletic lines. Gerald Beaumont, sporting editor of The Tribune, made the presentations, congratulating all who participated in the race and predicting that next year the "Merritt Marathon" would attract national attention.

Jay B. Nash, superintendent of athletic activities in the Oakland schools, presented the championship pennant to the winning playground team in the Junior Merritt run, and announced that next year the playgrounds of the city would begin six weeks ahead of time to train for the relay race.

Frank Foster, coach of the Olympic Club, carried home with him the handsome silver trophy offered as team prize.

St. Mary's College received the entry prize, while the medals and bars were distributed according to the lists previously published. Great enthusiasm was shown over the wonderful 1000-foot film, which, through the courtesy of the Oakland Photo Theater, was privately shown to the gathering. The pictures showed every detail of the big race from start to finish, as well as the start and finish of the Junior Merritt relay run, which preceded the Marathon.

The pictures of the race were viewed later in the day by thousands of people as part of the regular Oakland Photo Theater program. They will continue on the bill today and tomorrow and will then be transferred to the T & D playhouse in Berkeley.

CHARLEY THOM IS DEL MONTE WINNER OF OPEN TITLE

Burlingame Professional Captures Top Honor From Classy Field.

DEL MONTE, Sept. 13.—Charley Thom, professional of the Burlingame Country Club, won first honors in the play that brought to an end the Del Monte golf tournament. Thom rounded the 64 holes of which 48 were played Sunday, in 212 strokes, four better than his nearest competitor, Bob Simpson, who played from the Orange County Country Club, and Hutton Martin of the Los Angeles Country Club, tied for second place, each totaling 216 strokes.

Charles A. Maud, one of the state's veteran golfers, took first prize with the best amateur score. Maud's card for the two days' play was 219, or two better than that of Jack Neville, former Del Monte champion.

Thom, whose playing was the feature of the finish of the tournament, is a new-comer to California golf, but has played in a number of important Eastern tournaments.

PATTBERG BREAKS ALL RECORDS ON GERMAN TARGET

The largest number of marksmen since the opening of the big shooting tourney occupied the Shell Mound range in yesterday's shoot of the International shooting festival. C. A. Pattberg broke all records on the German ring target by scoring 74 out of a possible 75 points. Lieutenant J. F. Ames, one of the crack pistol shots on this coast, ran up the highest score on the revolver target—A. R. Bodenschatz finished his first 150 points on the point target on nine tickets and won a silver point target goblet. He also made the highest score of the day on the honor target—H. J. Raubold of Lafayette, Cal. Coast count, was also high up on the honor target with 62 out of possible 75 points. W. G. Hoffman ran up a score of 199 out of possible 300 points on the king target and made 24 out of possible 25 points on the point target. C. T. SUNDAY BOWLING ON GREEN STARTED

Sunday bowling on the green, like tennis in the adjoining courts, is now an established fact in Lakeside Park and visitors will be entertained every Sunday in the future. Great interest was shown yesterday by the visitors who lined the banks, many of whom had never seen the game played before.

It was expected that San Francisco players would be over in force to play a match game for the occasion. The notice given them, however, proved too short, and the match game was postponed to some future Sunday. Results of the Three Bunk games played were as follows: McKay and Howden beat Dick and Blair, 23 to 21. Discher, Smith and Proctor beat Grant Hendry and Maundrell 21 to 17. F. Brown, McKinnon and Bell beat McDougall Patton and Puhlio 22 to 19.

Tennis By Nelson G. Welburn

Swinging his much-dreaded backhand forcefully into play and executing neatly at the net, William E. Davis, University of California star, brilliantly annexed the fifteenth annual California state men's singles championship title yesterday by defeating Robert Lindley Murray, Stanford's comet and No. 4 in national ranking, in a hard five-set match upon the Claremont Country Club courts by the scores of 3-5, 6-3, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3. Miss Helen Baker, demurely defeated Miss Anita Myers for the women's singles championship in two straight sets by the scores of 6-4, 6-2.

The first set of the men's singles fray opened with Murray right on edge, while Davis was considerably erratic in his service and returns. Very few rallies ensued. Murray was casting to the net and executing in his usual sensational manner. Davis appeared slow and unable to make proper connections with the ball. Murray took this set by 6-3. It was a clean-cut win.

The second set witnessed Davis serving in splendid fashion. He followed his backhand with a fine and accurate forehand. Murray's return was pretty sudden chop, he was hitting the ball firmly and placing with remarkable accuracy. He had Murray's return by his terrific backhand shots, which were completely out of Murray's reach. Murray fought gamely for every point, but could not effect his opponent's brilliant return. Davis took this set by 6-3. It was a splendid retaliation.

Inspired by his successful backhand execution Davis tore loose in the third set and gave an exhibition of serving and driving which fairly thrilled the big crowd. Murray was fighting with vigor and determination which won the crowd's admiration, but try as he would his efforts appeared futile when endeavoring to catch Davis' speedy shots. The net, Davis was playing along in brilliant fashion, but suddenly began to show extreme indications of eccentricity. Service and returns that at one time at the most critical period of the game he would dink the ball into the net or slam it out. Undoubtedly his erratic playing prolonged the game and made it possible for Murray to stretch it out to a five-set match. It is estimated that he threw away six games on his wild shooting at the important stages of the match. He was clearly outpointing and outplaying Murray in every department of the game. His eddies turned in his favor for accuracy and depth of placement. Davis finally took this set by 6-4 after a hard try by Murray.

Murray set with determination stamped firmly on his face. It was clearly evident to all that he was going to make a great bid for the honor. He slammed the ball to the corners of the court with terrific speed and magnitude. Davis' return was clearly service, which Davis endeavored to drive on his backhand but miserably failed. Murray was speeding his game up to a tremendous handicap. Davis took to the net on every possible occasion and shot Murray's returns to the base line for points. Murray seemed unable to get the ball away from Davis at the net. Realizing that an apparent victory was rapidly slipping from his hold Murray madly fought at the net against his opponent's stunning net returns. It was clearly evident that Davis' sideline shots and net defense was unimpaired. Murray tried to win by a trying argument. It was surely a trying argument. Davis was pounding the pill fiercely and was covering court in a most effective manner. With a lead of 8-1 against him Davis made a run of six straight games in the face of the hardest competition. Murray tried as no man ever tried before to win the title of defeat, but his opponent would not be cheated of victory after such a some-what behind stunt. With point set for Davis to win the title, the local Murray weakly lobbed to Davis at the net, who viciously smashed it for a clean ace.

During the intercollegiate contests Davis always appeared to have a slight edge on Murray, but it was thought that this difference had been removed by Murray's wonderful improvement since those contests, but yesterday's match indicated that that edge is still in Davis' possession. His placing and net work is far superior to Murray's and he swats the ball with far greater speed. We would like to see these two giants clash once again.

Miss Helen Baker had things all her own way in her match against the clever Miss Anita Myers. Miss Baker handles herself in a firm manner on the court and places the ball with considerable speed. Miss Myers made a brave and commendable stand, but failed of victory by her inability to handle her opponent's neat service and chopping strokes.

The fifteenth annual California state championship tournament has produced the following players as its champions: Men's singles, William E. Davis, men's doubles, Roland Roberts and Morgan Foutrell; women's singles, Miss Helen Baker; women's doubles, Miss Helen Bates Jr.

Local tennis circles buzzed with conversation yesterday over the difficulty now confronting the national ranking committee for this year. It is reluctantly admitted that the decisive eastern win in the East vs. West matches scheduled Saturday will have tremendous weight on the ranking of the victors. Johnston's defeat at the hands of Williams in this particular event may cheat him out of first place. Sentiment seems to be pretty evenly divided as to who should be accorded first honors. Some contend that Williams' playing has been the most consistent of all, and therefore he is entitled to first place.

It is customary for the winner of the national event to qualify for first position, but Johnston's playing prior to this event was very poor, and coupled with his showing in the recently completed team matches may prove a stumbling block. The national ranking committee and its intricate job for this year.

The last week of the Golden Gate Thoroughbred Breeders' Association meet opens today. The season closes next Saturday. The last handicap being the San Francisco stake at a distance of a mile. Celesta and Brahmah will probably both start. The meet has been successful financially and has been a distinct step towards the restoration of racing. There is no prospect of an extension of the meet, but undoubtedly Tanforan and Emeryville will both attempt short meetings next year.

The record of all the riders to date is as follows: Gentry, 16; Burns, 14; O'Brien, 12; Pains, 10; Gross, 9; Rablin, 8; Kachbaum, 8; Nolan, 8; Washer, 5; Bullman, 3; Leads, 3; Brazel, 3; Hawkins, 3; Lounsbury, 2; Frach, 2; Ormes, 2; O'Mahoney, 2; McGraw, 2; Small, 1; Riddle, 1; Donovan, 1; Innes, 1; Roberts, 1; Murphy, 1; Clamplitt, 1; Phillips, 1; Carter, 1; Warren, 1; Molesworth, 1; Feeney, 1.

Johnston, who is the son of the late Mr. J. J. Johnston. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. J. Johnston, who is the son of the late Mr. J. J. Johnston. The bride was accompanied by her father, Mr. J. J. Johnston, and the groom by his father, Mr. J. J. Johnston. The ceremony was held at the residence of Mrs. J. J. Johnston, who is the daughter of the late Mr. J. J. Johnston.

RETURN FROM DEL MONTE.
Mr. and Mrs. Philip Bowles and Robert Bowles will return today from Del Monte, where they spent the week-end. Mrs. Bowles was a number of handsome costumes in the brief season that was so beautifully costumed. One of her dresses was of white tulle over silk with a high collar and with a wide band of diamonds across the forehead and a necklace with a single very large stone for a pendant.

DINNER AT THE OAKLAND.
Mrs. A. J. Johnston of Concord will give a large dinner at the Hotel Oakland tomorrow evening. Covers will be laid for thirty-six, and the decorations and menu will be most elaborate. Many of the guests will come from Concord for the occasion, and several Oakland friends of the hostess will be entertained.

SYMPATHY EXTENDED.
Much sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Edward De Lavigne, whose infant son died recently at their home in San Francisco. Mrs. De Lavigne, who has been very ill since the birth of the little boy, is now out of danger and will soon be able to leave her home. The family is now at the Hotel Oakland, and the friends of the family are being entertained.

RETURN TO CLAREMONT.
Judge and Mrs. Harry Manville Wright and Mr. and Mrs. John C. Black were among those who returned yesterday from Del Monte, where they spent the week-end. Mr. Wright, who just missed winning the championship, was with their party.

MRS. DU VAL'S COIFFURE.
Mrs. Rael Du Val, who is spending the summer with her sister, Mrs. Charles Clark, in San Mateo, while Mr. Du Val is at the front in France, was one of the well-known women at Del Monte last week. She had an unusual way of doing her blonde hair that was worn softly fluffed in contrast to the smooth parted effect about the face. About the forehead, there was a band of diamonds in the evening, or a band of pale blue beaded ribbon that was especially becoming. Mrs. James Evans, who also fluffed her blonde tresses, wore also a diamond band across the forehead with an evening gown.

BRIDGE AT THE OAKLAND.
Members of the Overseas Club and their friends will play bridge at the Hotel Oakland next Saturday afternoon for the benefit of the war relief fund. The Overseas Club is composed of a number of English residents of Oakland and Berkeley.

AL FRESCO LUNCHEON.
Mrs. George B. McCord gave an al fresco luncheon at the garden home in Valdez street, where the garden made a charming setting. Miss Vera McCord, who is spending the summer at the McCord residence, from New York, as a pleasant comment, Miss Davis is a junior luncheon. The party was entertained by Miss McCord, who has been studying drama in the east. Miss Davis, who is a member of the Pelican Club, was given an impromptu supper party by her friends. The party was held in the Grand Canyon building, and the guests of friends, Colonel and Mrs. Karmany entertained a large house party over the week-end.

RETURN TO VASSAR.
Miss Katherine Whitton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Whitton of Claremont, left for the east today to resume her studies at Vassar. She was accompanied by a classmate, Miss Frances Skinner of Seattle.

MRS. KARMANY A. HOSTESS.
Mrs. Lincoln Karmany was hostess at a picnic luncheon at Mare Island yesterday. The party was attended by a number of the navy yard yesterday to attend the wedding of Miss Marian Brooks and Dr. Eyttinger, and remained over Sunday as the guests of friends. Colonel and Mrs. Karmany entertained a large house party over the week-end.

FASHIONS AT DEL MONTE.
Fur-trimmed silk sweaters were the distinctive fashions at Del Monte last week. They were old looking, but pretty, especially a pale pink one with a collar which Miss Anna Peters wore. Mrs. William Pierce Johnson had a long white silk sweater, quite in the skirt, and about six inches from the bottom was a narrow band of white fur, that also edged the collar and cuffs. With it Mrs. Johnson wore a white shirt and broad white sailor hat with feathers.

Mrs. Will Taylor had a brilliant yellow silk coat, with which she wore a long collar of red fox. Another of her sweaters was especially pretty—a white silk with pastel colored flowers scattered all over it. Mrs. Alfred Swinnerton effected short, boyish looking wool sweaters. White, blue or olive green, though one day she appeared in gorgeous yellow silk with bright blue giraffe and a yellow silk hat.

Miss Ruth Zelle wore a smart little silk coat of petunia color, and Miss Helen Keener had a white wool one with which she wore a black-banded Panama. Miss Genevieve Rothin was very dainty in a pale blue coat and silk hat to match, with pink silk robes at the crown.

No one wore the very short skirts of a few months ago. The Crocker girls wore very long, quite long, even for golf, and evening costumes were also longer than flaring effects of the early summer. Mrs. Helen Crocker wore a sports costume on the links that had a quite full, long skirt of broadly striped blue and white, with a white wool sweater, and rather broad hat of Roman striped silk with much light blue in it.

STUDIO TEA.
Mr. and Mrs. Louis Mulhardt of Berkeley were among guests at a studio tea given yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. Matteo Samolina in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Elmer Edgewood of Honolulu. Mr. and Mrs. Leo Lantieri were also among those who enjoyed the affair.

BRIDGE FOR CHARITY.
The West Oakland Hotel will benefit by a card party to be given at the Hotel Oakland on Friday afternoon. About sixty tables will be arranged and the game is being played by directors of the home and a committee of which Mr. George Bruno and Mrs. Daniel Webster are chairmen. Among members of the committee are Mrs. Frank Prussia, Mrs. H. C. Mehrman, Mrs. William Christie, Mrs. J. J. Allen, Mrs. George Bailey, Mrs. H. J. Lacker, Mrs. J. C. Curry, Mrs. E. Beardsley, Mrs. A. B. Clark, Mrs. E. Simmons, Mrs. S. W. Ely and Mrs. Louis Hilborn.

COLLEGE ROMANCE.
The engagement of Miss Marguerite Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Davis of Berkeley, to Eugene Frickstad, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Frickstad, was announced on Saturday. Both young people are very popular in the college set and the announcement has caused much pleasant comment. Miss Davis is a junior at the University and her fiancé is a member of the Pelican Club. Frickstad is engaged in business in Sacramento, but at present is visiting Berkeley.

Uncle Wiggily and the Big Ice Cream Cone

Copyright, 1915, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

(By Howard N. Garis.)

Uncle Wiggily Longears, the rabbit gentleman, who had come down to the seashore for a few days because it was so hot in the woods where he had his hollow stump bungalow, started out one morning to take a walk.

"Where are you going, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Nurse Jane Curry, Wiggily's muskrat lady housekeeper, who always went wherever Mr. Longears did.

"Oh, I'm just going down to see if the board walk has learned how to run yet," answered Uncle Wiggily, laughing.

At the seashore, you know, rabbits always have a long sideways, made of boards, so the animal people won't have to get their feet all over the sand. Besides, it's very hard to walk on soft sand.

"I am going down to watch the board walk do a hop, skip and a jump," said Uncle Wiggily, and in a jiffy he was off, jumping like a rabbit.

"Well, don't be gone too long," spoke Nurse Jane, who was going to have some fried salt water taffy for supper and you know—

"I know I wouldn't miss that for all the ice cream cones in the world," cried Uncle Wiggily, making his whiskers smile away around at the back of his neck.

"You'll be back in plenty of time for supper, Nurse Jane. And please have lots of fried salt water taffy," said Uncle Wiggily, and in a jiffy he was off, jumping like a rabbit.

Then he went in the little cottage, where he and Uncle Wiggily were stopped all covered with mud, and he said to himself, "I wouldn't get all sticky when she fried the salt water taffy."

As for Uncle Wiggily, the rabbit gentleman went down to the ocean beach and hopped up and down the boardwalk, where there were many other animal people.

Along the boardwalk were stores and in them were monkey doodle gentlemen and others selling toys and good things to eat, such as ice cream cones, lolly-pops, rice cakes and cabbage and carrots, all covered with marshmallow, of which Uncle Wiggily was very fond.

The rabbit gentleman was going along slowly, wondering if he would have an adventure that afternoon, when all of a sudden up the beach, in his bathing suit, came running Sammie Littleall, the rabbit boy. He had been having a swim in the ocean.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily," cried Sammie, "I believe you can guess what this is!"

"Why—Monday, to be sure," said Uncle Wiggily.

"Yes, but it's my birthday," cried Sammie. "And, Uncle Wiggily, you're coming to our house, aren't you?" And Sammie smiled and hid his eyes.

"Why—yes—that is, I—Oh, of course I'm coming to your house," exclaimed Uncle Wiggily, who was a very kind and generous rabbit gentleman.

Then he tried off along the boardwalk to think. The local rabbit gentleman passed all about the boardwalk, and he found all about Sammie's birthday. I haven't bought him a present. I'll have to get him something at one of the jewelry stores and take it to him. Let me see. What shall I get him?

THE SHY GIRL

(By LILLIAN RUSSELL.)
(Copyright, 1915, by Lillian Russell.)

LILLIAN RUSSELL

THE shy girl can do something that she can force herself to talk. She can constantly bear in mind that a certain amount of confidence in her own powers is needed to bring out whatever powers she possesses.

That complete withdrawal from strife of tongues is a form of selfishness which often depresses and shackles those about her.

There is the girl who is shy from believing that she is not clever enough to join in conversation. Let her read the papers, not only the romantic magazine stories, but the witty, mirth-provoking weeklies and the daily papers. Let her keep in touch with the times and events. Rather let her discuss the size of the latest crop of oranges or raspberries than be mute.

Even an inveterate habit of blushing may be brought within reasonable bounds.

At even the cost of appearing silly come out of your shell. Do not sit dumb among your kind. This oppressive shyness from being the case in which your ideas die as they try to emerge, will after a time become the unwholesome vacuum precluding the very birth of them.

Silence which forbids the utterance of thought utterly destroys the capacity for thought. From being a very silent girl there is danger of becoming a very stupid woman. The vital force which once gave you your unused ideas will cease to traverse your brain at all, and you will become a close-mouthed burden to the community.

It must be clearly borne in mind that shyness can be cured and conquered, if not either negligently or wilfully encouraged, just as it can undoubtedly be fostered by indulgence.

D. A. R. CONVENTION TO HEAR MRS. W. C. STORY
Mrs. William Cummings Story, president-general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, arrived in San Francisco today and will speak tonight at the opening ceremonies of the D. A. R. convention in the headquarters in the Grand Canyon of Arizona building on the Joy Zone. THINK FARE VISITOR WAS FOREIGN SPY.
PROVIDENCE, R. The Newport woman whom Card torped head factory, was merely a sight-seer. It is the popular belief that she was a spy. The sentinel who forced Card to shove his boat away from the island says the woman was apparently a foreigner. The Newport woman whom Card at first claimed was his passenger, has denied her presence near the island and her description does not tally with the woman in Card's boat. Card is being held under $2000 bond for hearing Friday.

UNEARTH BURGLAR LOOT IN OAKLAND

San Jose Police Raid House Serving as Cache

SAN JOSE, Sept. 13.—The San Jose police department is attempting today to identify "Arthur Gardner," who was taken into custody yesterday at 1910 Eighty-seventh avenue, Oakland, which is supposed to be the home of Jack Edwin, ex-convict, who was arrested here Saturday and who subsequently confessed to complicity in a dozen daring daylight burglaries committed in Santa Clara county since August 31 and the theft of more than $5000 worth of silverware and jewels. Most of this loot has been recovered by Police Detectives John Guerin and Charles Hertel from caches in the Eighty-seventh avenue residence in Oakland which was secretly visited by Guerin and Hertel Saturday and Sunday without the knowledge of the Oakland police department.

"Gardner" was found Sunday afternoon by the two detectives and brought to San Jose in an automobile. Edwin insisted that the officers had made a mistake and had arrested his brother and not he. "Well," the officers, however, are confident that they have caught the man who melted up silverware stolen by Edwin and aided in disposing of gems and plate stolen in Santa Clara county in San Francisco and Oakland.

Refusing information. Beyond asserting that he was not a relative of Edwin, Gardner would give out no information. The two men were finger-printed today by Officer Peter Benjamin of the Bertillon department of the local office. According to the police, Edwin has confessed to complicity in burglarizing the homes of W. H. Schmidt, Homer Pugh, Mrs. A. W. Fox, A. C. Bassi, Fred Erovaska, Byron Millard, Harrison P. Smith, Charles F. Vagis, William Leppen, Mrs. C. R. Barnes and a Santa Clara home. Most of these robberies were perpetrated in the daytime.

Edwin was taken into custody Saturday and Sunday afternoon from some of the homes mentioned and discovered in his room. He then made a confession, stating that he had worked single-handed in San Jose since August 31 and that he "took on a pal September 1st." The officers, however, are convinced that he worked alone in San Jose but had a companion to aid him in disposing of his loot in the bay cities.

Cache of diamonds. Detectives Guerin and Hertel took Edwin to Oakland with them Saturday to point out his home and the place where he had hidden his plunder. They recovered some silverware on this trip. Edwin then made a further confession Sunday morning to a second trip made to the Eighty-seventh avenue home, at this time they took Gardner into custody and located a cache of diamonds and other gems in a hole near a rabbit hutch on the premises.

A gas blowout such as is used by thieves and jewelers' scales found on the premises were taken as evidence by the officers. Some of the knives recovered were partly melted, evidently with the gas blower.

Edwin is said to have been sentenced in 1913 to San Quentin for burglary in Ventura county. He was released last November.

Petersen Resents Act Deemed Discourteous

Captain of Inspectors Walter J. Petersen stated today that if the San Jose police department invaded Oakland territory, searched a house and made an arrest during the past two days, a gross breach of courtesy between the departments was made. "It is the general custom among the police departments when operating in territory outside their jurisdiction to ask the assistance of their neighbors or at least to notify them of their activities. In cases where houses are searched by an outside police department, there is always danger that the visiting officers may be taken for burglars by the local force and may be made the target of shots. "An officer of the peace has the right to make an arrest on a felony charge anywhere in the state," said Petersen, "but it is the usual custom to consult the local authorities before doing so. It is rather discourteous to fail in this manner. I am surprised if this has been done by the San Jose police, as we have been according them many favors recently."

HEART MISSED BY ACCIDENTAL SHOT

Mrs. J. W. Denniman Says Revolver Fell and Exploded.

Mrs. J. W. Denniman, 955 26th street, accidentally shot herself through the left breast just above the heart early this morning after returning to her home from Emeryville where she had spent the evening with friends at Dugan's Cafe. The police were at first inclined to believe that Mrs. Denniman had committed suicide, but she stated positively that it was an accident.

Mrs. Denniman was taken to the Providence Hospital, where she is under the care of Dr. George C. Pomeroy. It is believed that she will recover. Mrs. Denniman, who has been separated from her husband for the last three months, told the police that she had been with a party of friends and that they had been drinking. She returned home at 1:30 o'clock this morning and, according to her story, dropped her revolver, a .32-caliber automatic while placing it on the bureau. The weapon discharged, the bullet striking her near the heart. The report was made by James Adams, 550 Forty-second street. It is understood that Mrs. Denniman's husband is in Los Angeles.

DUEL ENDS WITH SUICIDE IN BULLET-RIDDLED ROOM

'Gentleman Vag' Doesn't Like City Stay in Oakland Made Longer by Bars

James Park, the "gentleman vag," held a delayed reception at the Central Police station this morning when several of his friends welcomed him to liberty on his release from the city prison. Park had made a mistake as to the time of his release and his well-dressed friends appeared yesterday morning to greet him, but were informed that they would have to delay the function. Prior to his release Park was measured for a new suit of clothes and was supplied with money which was sent from the east. According to his statements, Park is not his real name. He comes from Boston, where it is said he has wealthy relatives. In Park was serving 30 days for vagrancy by begging. He had been arrested while under the influence of liquor when he attempted to "mooch" some several passers-by in the street.

"This is a rotten burg," explained Park, who was released. "In most of the municipalities which I have honored with my presence, I have been released after a night of incarceration, with an admonition to continue on my globe-trotting, but in this small community they gave me 30 days."

SUPERVISORS OPEN DORMITORY BIDS

Union Label Omission on the County Work Elicits Letter From Elford.

Complaint that the union label of the Allied Printing Trades Council had been omitted from some work done for the county, B. E. Elford, secretary of the organization, today sent a communication to the Supervisors, calling their attention to the matter and requesting that the label be requested in the future.

"The omission was probably through oversight," said Elford. John C. Hayes, manager of the Alameda county exhibit at the San Diego exposition, has turned janitor also. Through the resignation of the regular janitor Hayes figures out that he can save $25.00 monthly to the county and the Supervisors today he stated that with the help of Assistant Manager Callahan he would keep up the exhibit with the help of a janitor. Frank Robinson was the lowest bidder for the construction of a temporary dormitory at the county infirmary were opened by the county. This bid of other bids ranged from that figure to $9897.

Dr. C. B. Smith was appointed temporary steward at the Emergency hospital during the vacation of Frank Davidson, who has been granted a two weeks' vacation. Upon motion of Supervisor Kelley, John Kearns was appointed inspector on the construction of the $20,000 wing to the Court House at a compensation of $7 per day.

The matter of the acquisition of a stretch of road near San Leandro by the county was considered in next week, while in the meantime an inspection will be made.

Mountaineers Fight Flames on Hamilton

SAN JOSE, Sept. 13.—Mountaineers are today fighting a conflagration in the Mt. Hamilton range which started yesterday afternoon as a result of a cigar or cigarette carelessly thrown in the underbrush in Alum Rock park, San Jose's playground, situated seven miles east of here. The flames swept up the hillside on the north side of the canyon, leaped the Bear Trail road, and in a few minutes the whole mountain resembled a torch which cast its glare in the gathering dusk across the Santa Clara valley. Intervening orchards and fields saved homes on top of the mountain near the Sierra road. It is believed that the flames will be confined to brush between the Bear Trail road and 1940s on the mountain top. Park employees beat out the fire below the trail in the park, where the blazes originated.

THRONGS SEE BODY OF BANK ROBBER

After Seven-Hour Fight Desperado Cheats Law With Shot.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—Thousands of persons filed through the morgue today to view the body of George Nelson, desperado, who after holding 75 police officers at bay throughout the darkened hours of Sunday morning sent a bullet crashing into his brain, thus bringing to a close one of the most daring duels in the annals of this city's man-hunting department.

As a result of a letter found in the desperado's mail, the police and officers of Los Angeles take William Calish, aged 39, of that city, into custody. His sweetheart, Mary Siegel, is also being detained, both being suspected of having participated with Nelson and William Juber in the holdup of the Boyle Heights Bank, Los Angeles. Juber, in his cell at the city prison, absolves them of any complicity in the crime.

A dragnet has been spread for the mysterious Charlie, the remaining member of the gang. Police believe that he watched the battle yesterday. City police are endeavoring for the recovery of Hugh McBeth, shot at the outset of the battle between the police and Nelson. He is in an unconscious condition at the Central Emergency hospital.

Policeman Peter Hammond will be in custody for some time from the bullet wounds in his arm and leg and there is some danger of his being crippled for life.

YELLS HIS DEFIANCE. Fighting to the last ditch with the desperation of a beast at bay, the bandit, in a braggadochio tone yelled out a refusal to surrender when called to do so by Lieutenant Lane. "Well, I don't care," he yelled, "I'll fight you to the death." Lane's rejoinder, as he and others poured a hail of lead toward the room. This order sealed Nelson's doom. As the first light of the Sabbath dawn threw its glow on the scene where this lone man for hours had drawn a dead line of death-dealing lead that 75 hincocals had failed to cross, the rush was ordered. Shielded by a heavy Chinatown door, detectives made their entry, only to find that the bandit had cheated them out of a capture by sending himself into eternity.

A stabby couch beneath the window from which he had been firing was the man's body. On a bloodstained pillow slumped shattered glass lay the head, a pool of blood from the right temple giving mute evidence of the end. The face was contorted while the lips curled to a snarl. The bare arms were crossed across the chest, and the hands were clenched in a death grip. On a chair alongside the couch were the other three revolvers with which he had carried on his duel. Many steel nosed bullets were close at hand.

HAD BEEN WOUNDED. That Nelson had been painfully wounded by the return fire of the police was evidenced by a large bullet in his right groin and a shattered elbow. The latter injury he sustained at the outset of the battle when he was confronted by detectives and his pal, William Juber. A crude sling which he had used to rest the wounded arm in, showed how Nelson had tried to alleviate the pain, as alone in the room, fully aware that either death or capture was his lot, he sent a bullet after bullet toward the guardians of the law.

Throughout the entire night over a thousand people watched the battle. It was only after the wicker receiver containing the body had been carried out and the morgue wagon had rattled over the crossing that they began to disperse. However, throughout the day, thousands came to view the bullet-riddled house. But $400 of the $2400 of loot taken from the bank was found in the room. The police of Los Angeles have congratulated the local department for capturing Juber and for finishing Nelson, for since the robbery of the Southern California Bank and the escape of the three bandits with $2400 in loot, the officers have been tireless in their search for the trio. It was the marksmanship of the bank's cashier that resulted in Sunday's battle. When the trio made their getaway in an automobile the cashier ran to the door of the bank and sent a volley of bullets in their direction. It was for the wound made by one of these bullets that Juber sought treatment and was turned over to the police for investigation. His confession of the bank robbery and the giving by him to the police of his address here was the prelude to the night of battle.

HOUSE IS RIDDLED. Throughout the morning today as well as all day yesterday the old residence at Buchanan and Oak streets, recently turned into a lodging house, was the mecca for throngs of sightseers. The police would not let the curious crowd enter the grounds but they were permitted to look upon the ruin of the outside which is riddled with bullets. The walls on the inside are punctured by the big charges of shot sent from the long range guns of the police and altogether the whole mouth wing of the building is battered and crumpled.

It is probable that the city of San Francisco will be called upon by the owner to repair the damage done by the battle as this has been the usual mode of procedure in cases of this sort.

HOLD PAIR IN LOS ANGELES.

By Associated Press. LOS ANGELES, Sept. 13.—William Calish and Mary Siegel are held here by the police today for further investigation in connection with the confession of William Juber, suspected in the holdup of the Boyle Heights Bank, Los Angeles, which took place on August 20. The police believe the couple have information regarding the robbery.

It was established today by detectives that Calish was working at a moving picture studio on the day of the robbery. Mrs. Siegel denied she was the author of the letter signed "Mary," found among Nelson's effects. She said she had met Nelson once or twice several months ago. She had been introduced to him on the street by Calish. She stated that she was not capable of expressing herself in the language contained in the letter, as she had been in this country only four years.

Suitor Resents Harsh Turn-Down He Causes the Arrest of Girl's Father

Irritated by the conduct of his father-in-law-elect, Edward Williams, of 869 Seventy-first avenue, Frank Beakley, when he arrested him last night caused his arrest by the Melrose police. Williams was released, however, after the case had been tried in a moot court of the Melrose police station by Sergeant William McCloud, who acted as judge, jury and attorney for the defense and prosecution. Beakley came to the Melrose police station last night and complained that Williams had made threats against his life. Patrolman Con Keefe was detailed to go with him and investigate. Beakley explained that he was paying court to Miss Gertrude Williams and that he went to the family home with the young woman to ask the father's consent. He says that he did not receive a cordial reception, that Williams threatened his life should he renew the demand. Beakley, who lives at 456 Forty-ninth street, was told to take the matter up with the prosecuting attorney when McCloud released Williams.

HOTEL OAKLAND GUESTS STARTLED BY RAH-RAHS

The guests and attaches of the Hotel Oakland have been startled on different occasions within the last week by hearing tremendous sounds coming from the hall rooms. The guests have stopped to listen and the more curious have followed the sounds within the building. When they came to the ballroom they saw a hundred or more fashionably dressed young women and men cheering at the tops of their voices, giving "rah, rah, college yells with a vim not often heard in the city.

DOLLAR DAY IS COMING Oakland to Be a 'City of Bargains'

"The high cost of living" axiom has been displaced by the well known "Cost of high living" saying, and, in turn, this has been displaced by "Dollar Day." It might be well to add that prominent Oakland merchants have absolutely obliterated, for a day at least, all facts and figures on either saying. The day that the elimination process takes place is Wednesday.

To those who have seen the tens of thousands of disks bearing this inscription, Dollar Day, Oakland, September 15, probably the thought has arisen as to whether or not the general populace are to share in the observance of the day. The largest part of the benefit goes to the populace, therefore the question is answered.

Dollar Day was gotten up by the heads of the most reliable establishments in this city for the purpose of obliterating the much talked of "high cost" bugaboo. Oakland merchants have long contended that despite high prices maintained in other cities, the cost of living here has always been moderately priced.

DAY OF BARGAINS. But regular prices are not to be the order of Dollar Day. Far be it for Oakland merchants to be content to rest on their laurels. Bargain fests, if there be such, outside of the comic sections, will have a heart attack on viewing low prices placed on high quality goods. In short, the almighty dollar will roll farther and farther, bringing in more value to Dollar Day in Oakland stores, than $1.00 and $2.00 on other days. Prices have been slashed and the best of goods and wares have been placed at the mercy of these same prices, therefore it is up to the general public to follow the rule. To save the dollar, participate in Dollar Day. Fill out a list of your personal and household needs. Then visit all the stores bearing the Dollar Day disks.

Throughout the prominent cities of the West Dollar Day is looked up as one of the best of the future. The motto with a constantly saving, realizing the great amount of labor hobby pots forth to make the dollar, will be on hand in Oakland.

ORIENT DEEMS SEAMEN'S BILL JOKE

Congressman Britten Returns From Five Months' Tour of Japan.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—"So complete a mastery of the Pacific has been given the Japanese by the seamen's bill that I am inclined to believe a Japanese lobby was back of the measure, and put it through Congress," said Congressman Frank L. Britten of Chicago, when he arrived here on the transport Sherman yesterday. Together with Representative C. W. Edmonds of Philadelphia, and accompanied by their wives, these two Republican members of the lower house have been making a five months' tour of the Orient.

Both are Republicans, and went to the Far East to get some first-hand information as to the way the present foreign policy of the Democrats is received. During their stay in Japan they were closely followed by Japanese officials, and in China they were given an audience with President Yuan Shih Kai.

"Our foreign policy is a joke and we are regarded as jokes by other nations," said Britten. "We could not have done more benefit to Japan in any way than by passing the seamen's bill. It is just another of those colossal mistakes made by the present administration. I am delighted with the driving of American ships from the Pacific, which has been accomplished by the bill, and they are making big preparations to capture all the trade of this ocean."

I am in favor of a big navy and that line I stand in for of a lot of submarine. Of the thirteen authorized by the last Congress I think eight should be stationed on this coast. I believe that Congress should authorize the construction of submarines on this coast, and I hope to see the time soon when these craft will be built in Oakland, San Francisco, Seattle or San Diego.

Congressman Britten is a San Franciscan by birth and was a former member of the Olympic Club here before he went to Chicago several years ago. Besides Britten and Edmonds, two other congressmen, Representative C. Brumbaugh of Kentucky and Senator J. H. Burton of California, returned from the Orient on the Sherman.

Registration in Educational Dept. Opened; New Secretaries and Teachers.

Registration for the fall classes at the Young Women's Christian Association will be in order this evening at the Webster street building, where a big educational rally is to be held under the direction of the new secretary, Mrs. Robert Stiles. Visitors will inspect a variety of departments and a musical program will be rendered.

In addition to securing two new secretaries in the persons of Mrs. Stiles and Miss Marjorie Sprecher, the domestic science instructor, the local association has at last decided upon a permanent general secretary, to continue the work organized by Miss Marion Hopkins of the Richmond, Va., association.

Miss Jeanette Dutton, present leader of the association work at the San Diego Exposition, will come north to take charge here about the first of next year. She is well known in Patterson, New Jersey, where she took a leading part in the building campaign for the new association building there, being also a member of the association directors.

Miss Marion Hopkins, who has headed the Oakland Association at the time of its opening by the Richmond organization, has gone East, leaving the place vacant until the arrival of Miss Dutton.

STOCK ABUSE IS STOPPED BY ORDER

Shares Held in Escrow to Prevent Unloading by Promoters.

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 13.—One of the old-time abuses of stock company promotion is being largely eliminated by the action of the state board of corporations. H. L. Carnahan, secretary of the board, announced that the board has ordered the promoters of stock companies to deposit their shares in escrow to prevent their unloading on the market.

As a result of this policy certificates for nearly 4,000 shares of stock have been deposited at the order of the commission, most of it in the safe deposit vault of the corporation department at Sacramento.

Early in the experience of the new department it was found that one of the worst abuses of stock promotion was the practice of the promoter to create a company, take half or more of its stock for an asset of unproven value and create a market for the shares through sale of treasury stock by the company.

Under the new policy certificates for nearly 4,000 shares of stock have been deposited at the order of the commission, most of it in the safe deposit vault of the corporation department at Sacramento.

MRS. LESLIE CARTER THRILLS PORTRAYS 'ZAZA' AT ORPHEUM

'Potash and Perlmutter' at the Macdonough Tonight

Mrs. Leslie Carter revived old memories at the Orpheum yesterday when she appeared in the "big scene" of "Zaza," the play in which she originally made theatrical history seventeen years ago. Mrs. Carter proved beyond any possible question that she is still the powerful actress that she was when she first achieved theatrical fame. Her powerful performance in the role of Zaza, which she played in the original production, brought her a reward in a series of encores which were not called until Mrs. Carter had played half a dozen times.

The famous actress was given a reception such as is seldom accorded artists in this city. She was greeted by a large number of admirers, and her performance was a triumph.

The Orpheum players scored in "The Blue Mouse," a snappy French farce in three acts. All of the company's favorites are included in the cast for this production.

The return of "Potash and Perlmutter," the famous comedy made from the stories by Jacob Gordin, which has scored one of the genuine hits in theatrical history, returns to Oakland tonight for an engagement at the Macdonough theater.

PEARL FORD AT THE MACDONOUGH IN 'POTASH AND PERLMUTTER'.

crowd audiences at the new show presented yesterday. "The Sheriff," a comedy starring written especially for him, is the playlet with which Macdonough regales his audience this week. Macdonough will be remembered for his good work of a few weeks ago as Baron Scarpia in the play of La Tosca.

Pretty girls and good music and songs are the chief features of Goulding's act. The "Tune and Song" is a popular opportunity to dispense with "Society Bugs," which met with the unqualified approval of the audience.

Princess Winona, who does everything with a rifle and miss the target at which she is aiming, proved a strong act. No. 1 and 2, singing, dancing, and singing, with a number of minor acts, made up the rest of the vaudeville program. The musical part of the show is well taken care of by the Vitaphone feature, "The Palmed World," in which Julia Swayne Gordon and Anita Stewart featured.

LOSES SAVINGS IN 'TIN BOX' SCHEME

Bunco Men Get $15,885 From Sacramento Hotel Employee.

SAN JOSE, Sept. 13.—Swindled out of $15,885 by two Italian bunco men, Julio Biagiotti, steward in the Caffaro Hotel, Sacramento, has appealed to Sheriff A. B. Langford to find the men who had victimized him last Thursday by inducing him to place the accumulation of a lifetime in a tin box and to return to San Jose and their criminal.

Biagiotti was hurried back to Sacramento to place his case before the police there.

Persuaded that it would be profitable for him to make a partnership with two men he had met at the Caffaro Hotel in the purchase of a saloon in New York City valued at $35,000, Biagiotti drew all his money from a Sacramento bank and placed it in a tin box with a like amount put up by one of his two acquaintances.

The three left Sacramento for San Francisco, where Biagiotti's companions were to obtain an additional $10,000. Biagiotti was urged to come to San Jose with the tin box containing the money and await their arrival. The two men kept the key to the strong box.

OLD PAPERS IN BOX.

Today afternoon Biagiotti arrived at the St. Charles Hotel, conducted by I. Allegretti, and asked the proprietor to keep the tin box, which he said contained valuable papers, in the safe in the hotel. Biagiotti waited in San Jose for the men to appear. They promised to arrive Saturday morning.

When they failed to arrive, Biagiotti asked the proprietor of the hotel for the strong box. He took it to his room and broke it open. It contained a pile of old newspapers.

Biagiotti told Sheriff Langford that he had been employed for several years at the Caffaro Hotel in Sacramento as a steward. He had saved about $30,000 during his employment.

One evening a stranger from New York told Biagiotti that he was looking for a partner to invest some money in the purchase of a saloon in New York worth $45,000. Biagiotti asked him to show him the money with him. The theft of Biagiotti's savings followed.

MRS. M'LAUGHLIN DIES FROM POISON

Wife of San Francisco Public Works Member Victim of Tragedy.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—Mrs. Aitha McLaughlin, wife of Edward J. McLaughlin, a member of the Board of Public Works and brother of State Labor Commissioner John P. McLaughlin, died tonight at her home of Mary's Help Hospital from the effects of poison taken Saturday evening at her home, 279 Thirteenth street.

Remorse over the stabbing of her husband on September 1 combined with dread and worry of her impending trial, in which she was charged with assault with intent to commit murder was responsible for the suicide. In another room in the same hospital not far from that occupied by his wife, McLaughlin still lies recuperating slowly from the knife wound inflicted by his wife in a fit of jealousy, anger after the couple had returned from a joy ride.

Although he had endeavored to assuage the fear and apprehension of his wife the stricken man was unable to comfort her and after a day of depression and despondency she swallowed a large quantity of bicarbonate of soda.

McLaughlin was moved to Mary's Help Hospital from the St. Francis Hospital, where she had been recovering from the effects of the poisoning.

"GASOLINE WELL" AT STANFORD UNEARTHED

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Sept. 13.—Several gardeners were digging on the quadrangle. One of them struck a pick into the ground, when a gushing stream spurted up.

"A gasoline well!" shouted one of the men.

"A gasoline well it is," shouted another.

Geologists—who should know—rushed from the department of geology. They sniffed. Impossible, it couldn't be a gasoline well.

"But it is," insisted the gardeners. "Isn't gasoline refined from oil?" someone timidly suggested.

"It is, and this is gasoline," said Superintendent J. Ellis, "but it is coming from coal."

It was. The cans—two giant holding 300 gallons each—had been buried underground for fifteen years. They were placed there when the chemistry laboratory stood over the spot and had been forgotten.

OLD AGE A CRIME

Some people are young at 60—red cheeks, ruddy and vigorous. Others are old at 40—beginning to stiffen up, a big step beginning to lag and lose its springiness; occasional touches of pain in the back; feel tired without cause, and possibly a twinge of rheumatic pain.

In most cases these are the danger signals to warn you that the kidneys are not promptly doing their work of throwing off the poisons that are being forming in the blood.

To neglect these danger warnings is a crime against yourself. If you have these symptoms, you can find prompt relief in GOLD MEDAL Kidney Capsules. For more than 200 years this has been the recognized remedy for kidney and bladder ailments.

GOLD MEDAL Kidney Capsules are imported direct from the laboratories at Haarlem, Holland. Prices are 25c, 50c and $1.00. Get them at your druggists. Do not take a substitute. Guaranteed.

Zinc Ore Prices Are Disclosed at Hearing

By Associated Press.

JOPLIN, Mo., Sept. 13.—Mine operators of Southwest Missouri testified today at an investigation to determine whether a smelter trust exists in Missouri, gave information regarding prices paid in this district for zinc ore.

The hearing, which began today before Frank W. McAllister, superintendent commissioner appointed by the supreme court, is being conducted by W. T. Rutherford, assistant attorney-general of the State.

Mine operators recently made representations that zinc ore prices were not in keeping with the record rise in spelter.

Allegations that a combination of smelter concerns fixed prices caused the investigation.
